

CURRICULUM VITAE

Hugh H. Iltis

Department of Botany, Birge Hall 2784 Marshall Parkway
University of Wisconsin Madison, WI 53713
430 Lincoln Drive 608/256-7247
Madison, WI 53706
Tel: 608/262-2792
FAX: 608/262-7509

Birth Date & Place: 7 April 1925, Brno, Czechoslovakia.
[US citizenship 1944]

Military Service: U. S. 7th Army, 1944-46 (European Theater).

Academic Training: University of Tennessee, Knoxville, B.A., 1948.
Washington University and Missouri Botanical Garden, St. Louis, Missouri,
M.A., 1950, Ph.D., 1952.

Positions Held: Herbarium Assistant to A.J. Sharp, University of Tennessee 1946-48; Research Assistant to Robert Woodson, Missouri Botanical Garden, 1948-1951; University Fellow, Washington University, 1951-1952; Instructor, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, 1952-1954, Assistant Professor, 1954-1955; Assistant Professor and Curator, University of Wisconsin Herbarium, University of Wisconsin, Madison, 1955-1960; Associate Professor, 1960-1967; Professor and Director, University of Wisconsin Herbarium, 1967-1993; Emeritus Professor & Director, University of Wisconsin Herbarium, 1993-present; Visiting Professor of Botany, University of Virginia, 1958; Visiting lecturer, Siberian Academy of Science, Irkutsk and Novo Sibirsk, 1979; Toyama and Kyoto Universities, Japan, 1982, 1989, 1994; Florence, Rome, 1984; Univ. de Guadalajara, 1988, 1994; San Jose, Costa Rica, 1989; Hawaii, 1990; University of Maracay, Venezuela, 1991; and other institutions in North and Latin America, the USSR and Europe.

Botanical Field Work: Virginia, 1940-1943; Pacific Northwest, 1948; Costa Rica, 1949, 1989; Arkansas-Missouri, 1952-1955; Wisconsin, 1955 to present; Mexico, 1960-1996 (16 expeditions, esp. to Jalisco and western Mexico 1960, 71, 72, 77, 78, 79, 81, 82, 84, 87, 88, 90, 93, 94, 95, 96); Guatemala, 1975; Venezuela 1991; Nicaragua and Honduras, 1991; Peru, 1962-1963; Hawaii, 1967, 1990; Lesser Antilles and Puerto Rico 1989; USSR, 1975 (Caucasus), 1979 (Siberia, joint USSR-USA Endangered Flora Exploration); Ecuador, 1963, 1977; European Herbaria, 1964-1965, 1979, 1980, 1986, 1988, 1998.

(Revised 9/4/98)

Special Interests: Biogeography, esp. of North and Latin America; Taxonomy, biogeography and evolution of New World Capparidaceae; Flora of Wisconsin; Flora of the Sierra de Manantlán, Jalisco, Mexico (the home of Zea diploperennis Iltis, Doebley and Guzman).

Systematics and the origin of maize (Zea) through selection by primitive agriculturists by way of morphologically and physiologically peculiar sexual translocations.

Conservation of species and ecosystems, environmentally protective legislation; Environmental preservation of natural areas in Wisconsin and the neotropics.

Human ecology, concepts of the "optimum human environment", i.e., innate human adaptations to and appreciate of nature, natural beauty, natural patterns and biodiversity (biophilia), and the relationship of these to biotic preservation (cf. Iltis, Loucks and Andrews, Bull. Atomic Scientists, 1970).

Preservation of genetic diversity in indigenous crops and their ancestral species, and their destruction by the "Green Revolution", modern agriculture, over-population and over-development; problems of germplasm reciprocity with less-developed nations and the question of intellectual rights.

Research Support: National Science Foundation, 1962-64, 1965-67, 1974-80, 1981-85, 1986-89 (Facilities Grant); Pioneer Hi-bred International, Johnson, Iowa, 1978-1982; Harris Seed Company, Rochester, New York; J.J. Davis Fund, Botany Dept., and E.K. & O.N. Allen Herbarium Fund, University of Wisconsin.

Professional Societies: American Association for the Advancement of Science Societies (fellow); American Institute of Biological Science; American Society of Plant Taxonomists; Association for Tropical Biology; Botanical Society of America; California Botanical Society; International Organization of Plant Biosystematists; International Association for Plant Taxonomy; Ecological Society of America; Torrey Botanical Club; Michigan Botanical Club; Linnean Society of London (fellow); New England Botanical Club; Sociedad Botanica de Mexico (life member); Botanical Club of Wisconsin; Society for the Study of Evolution; Society for Species Biology (Japan); Society for Conservation Biology (1986 board of governors, 1986); Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters; International Center for Integrative Studies; Organization for Tropical Studies (OTS); Natural Areas Association; Society for Economic Botany.

International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources (IUCN); Environmental Defense Fund; The Nature Conservancy; Natural Resource Defense Council; Sierra Club; World Wildlife Fund; Greenpeace; Conservation International; National Institute for the Environment; Rainforest Action; Friends of the Earth; Planned Parenthood International; Zero Population Growth; Natural Areas Association, and other conservation organizations.

Honors: Member, Society of Phi Kappa Phi, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, 1948; Biologia Senior Honors Award, University of Tennessee, 1948; National Research Council Postgraduate Fellowship, 1952; Member, Society of Sigma Xi, 1953; The Nature Conservancy, National Golden Oakleaf Award, 1963 [co-founder of Wisconsin Chapter]; Fellow, American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), 1972; Fellow, Linnean Society of London, 1982; Who is Who in America; American Men and Women in Science; Presidential Award, Republic of Mexico, 1987 [presented at dedication ceremony for leading role in establishing the Sierra de Manantlán Biosphere Reserve]; Sol Feinstone Environmental Award, College of Environmental Science and Forestry, State University of New York, Syracuse, 1990;

Conservation Award of Conservation Council of Hawaii ["for outstanding service to the Hawaiian environment", i.e. on the 20th anniversary of passage of Hawaii's Natural Area Law, instigated in 1967 by Iltis], 1990;

Recognition Awards, Universidad de Guadalajara (Mexico), 1990;

Maydica [International Journal of Maize Research], "The Professor Hugh H. Iltis Commemorative Issue: an avid investigator and searcher for the origins of corn." Bergamo, Italy, vol. 35(2):1-186, 1990 [a Festschrift];

National Wildlife Federation Special Recognition Award, March 1992;

Society for Conservation Biology Distinguished Achievement Award, 1994;

Puga Medal, University de Guadalajara, Mexico, 1994;

Asa Gray Award, American Society of Plant Taxonomy, 1994;

Botanical Society of America (Merit Award, 1996, Centennial award 2006);

Botanist of the Year Award, Society for Economic Botany, 1998.

Distinguished Alumnus award, Missouri Botanical Garden 1999,

Ph.D. Honoris Causa, Universite de Guadalajara, Mexico 2007
